GRADING FOR EQUITY KEYNOTE

JOE FELDMAN

Joe has worked in education for over 20 years as a teacher, principal, and district administrator, and is the founder and CEO of Crescendo Education Group (crescendoedgroup.org), which since 2013 has supported K-12 schools, districts, and colleges/universities nationwide to improve grading and assessment practices. He leads the Equitable Grading Project (gradingforequity.org), and has presented at numerous education conferences, and his writings have been published in Education Week, Kappan, Education Leadership, District Administrator, and Black Press USA. His book, Grading for Equity: What It Is, Why It Matters, and How It Can Transform Schools and Classrooms (Corwin) was published in 2018. Crescendo Education Group has partnered with the National Education Association as well as the American Federation of Teachers, National Association of Independent Schools, and Stanford University's Challenge Success.

Joe earned his B.A. from Stanford University and a Master's degree in Teaching and Curriculum from the Harvard School of Education. He lives in Oakland with his wife and two children.

MARK BOSWELL

Mark Boswell is an educator with almost 20 years of experience and is currently the Assistant Head of Upper School at Marin Country Day School. He began his career supporting after-school programs for underserved students in Atlanta, GA, and has continued working to elevate students, fellow educators, and education. A historian at heart, Mark has supported and developed competency-based curriculum, piloted programs weaving social-emotional learning into all academic subjects, and co-founded a professional development opportunity for educators of color seeking administrative opportunities within independent schools (The BOLD Summit: Atlanta, GA). Mark holds an MA in Private School Leadership from the Klingenstein Center at Teachers College, Columbia University and B.A. in Political Science and Economics from Emory University.
